

DOMESTIC PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENTS

These agreements are entered into by parties who, for whatever reason, are unable or unwilling to get married. The agreement may address aspects of the parties' day-to-day living arrangements, including the payment of living expenses, as well as how assets and debts will be divided if and when the relationship ends through separation or death.